May 21, 23, 30, June 4, 6, 11, 13, 18, 20, 25, 27, July 2 and 9.

A survey of the Church's history from 1000 C.E. to the present time is covered in this course. Among the topics treated in detail are the following: the Crusades, Cluniac Reforms, the Investiture Controversy, the Inquisition Avignon Papacy, the Western Schism, Conciliarism, the Protestant Reformation, the Catholic Reform, Jansenism, the Church and Liberalism, Vatican Council I, Modernism, and Vatican Council II. Particular emphasis will be placed on important trends and ideas underlining these events and movements. While primarily a reading and lecture course, opportunities will also be provided for individual research on particular subjects. 3 Credits

LIT 590ma Eucharist

Instructor: Rev. Michael Woost

First class: 6:45 – 8:35 p.m. (*Time may be adjusted in class conversation with the Instructor.)

Dates: Mondays and Wednesdays as follows:

May 21, 23, 30, June 4, 6, 11, 13, 18, 20, 25, 27.

[Note: This course will be taught in a hybrid format. 2 credit-hours in class instruction; 1 credit-hour Independent Study and remote access.]

This course is a study of the Eucharist as the center and focus of the Christian community and personal Christian life. Examined are the testimonies of the Scriptures, the Fathers, Church Councils, and modern theologians. The issues of the reformers are raised along with present ecumenical concerns. The various presences of Jesus and their implications are noted. (Prerequisite: LIT 560 Liturgical-Sacramental Theology) 3 Credits
